Tuesday, March 5

8:30 a.m. 710.1 Stepping Into Your Supervisory Role: Learning to Lead, Bryan Singletary, NRECA Consultant

Overview: As a team member, you mastered the technical skills of your job. If you're considering taking on a supervisory position or have become a supervisor, there are different skills, abilities and knowledge you need to be successful. The supervisor's influence on productivity, morale and work quality should not be understated. Learn to navigate the transition into a supervisory role, clarify roles and responsibilities, align your team's work with your co-op's mission-critical areas, discuss the challenges of new supervisors and determine the best approaches to addressing them and create a personal long-term development plan.

Wednesday, March 6

8 a.m. Leadership Training, Rana DeBoer, N2Growth

Overview: This training is based off of the N2Growth Leadership Academy. This workshop is designed to create ideas and tools that the participants can learn during the training to take back to their co-op. These tools will assist in the participants in leadership skills at their co-op and with their respective safety committees.

1 p.m. Active Shooter Training, Mike Burgeson, retired lieutenant from the Yankton Police Department

Overview: This is based off of nationally recognized trainings for the protection of employees during an active shooter incident.

2:30 p.m. Strategic Plan for Safety Committees, Darrin Lynch, CFC

Overview: Understanding the basics of creating a strategic plan and how to follow through with the plan will assist a safety committee in creating and achieving their goals.

Thursday, March 7

8 a.m. RESAP/Risk Audit

Overview: SDREA will be breaking down each section of the RESAP and Risk Audit onsite programs to help safety committees better understand how each of the programs work and how an onsite is conducted.

10 a.m. Team Building

This course is part of SDREA Education Package A and B.
If you did not purchase Package A or B, then the fee is $650 plus tax per participant.
